THE GRAND TRUNK FORCING CUT RATES WHEN CLOSED CANALS BOOM BUSINESS.

However, the Shippers are Well Satisfied and Hurry Their Goods Out to Customs ers-Talk of a Deal to Oust Mr. Sully from the Presidency of the Richmond Terminal-A Day's Doings in Wall Street.

The stock market was at sixes and at sevens to-day. In the first half hour of business some shares were strong and advanced, while others yielded under the pressure brought to bear against them. The Vanderbilts, St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville, Union Pacific, Eric and Pacific Mail received bull supwhile the bears devoted their attention chiefly to Western Union, Reading, Lackawanna and New England. They sold the last-named down from 41 to 89%, and the success of the raid on this stock finally wiped out a part of the early improvement.

wiped out a part of the early improvement.

The big surprise of the day was furnished by the strength of the Vanderbilt shares. Here is the Grand Trunk making a desperate fight against the American roads and the latter striking back with all their might, which, of course, means a slashing of rates; and yet the stocks are, if anything, stronger than ever. The Grand Trunk last night made its third out in dressed beef charges in order to uphold its claim for a differential rate and the end is now yet. It is said that the road will, if hard pushed, slaughter grain and provision rates, although this is not generally believed. The American roads which have to abide by the Inter-State Commerce law will probably meet their Canadian competitor with such vigorous action that the latter will have to consent to have their differences settled by arbitration. The great conundrum is the object of the Grand Trunk's policy at this time when navigation is about to close and the roads are expected to get the best rates of the year for their traffic.

The strife is a good thing for shippers, who are not a bit slow in securing the advantages offered them. The East-bound shipments last week showed an increase of 5.900 tons.

The Northern Pacifics were strengthened

The Northern Pacifics were strengthened by reports that $8,000,000 of the new third mortgage bonds have been placed by the company. It is said that August Belmont & Co., representing the Rothschilds, have taken a big block. The Deutsche Bank of Berlin is interested and Villard and his friends, of course, have a hand in the pie.

The Richmond Terminal fight is developing into an interesting contest. It is believed that a movement is on foot to oust Mr. Sully from the Presidency and to elect a Board of Directors that will have the confidence of the security holders who are tired of the way the affairs of the company have been handled. A strong pressure is being brought to bear upon R. P. Flower to accept the Presidency, but that gentleman is non-committal upon the subject. It is highly probable that some very important changes will take place in the Directory, the chances being that William Rockefeller, R. T. Wilson and Falnestock will take places in the Board. Flower & Co. were large buyers of the stock again to-day.

Money lent at $a 5 per cent, on call, and Flower & Co. were large buyers of the stock again to-day.

Money lent at 8 a 5 per cent, on call, and was in fair demand. Foreign exchange is weaker, and the posted rates are down to 4.82 and 4.86.

The Sub-Treasury was debtor $240,469 at the Clearing-House. The following is the Clearing-House statement: Exchanges, $117.-294,723; balances, $5,187,159.

Quicksilver preferred took one of its periodical jumps and sold up from 26 to 29.

Around 12.30 Work, Strong & Co. bid actively for Union Pacific and took several thousand shares. Others jumped in also, and the shorts were soon sent climbing for it. The price advanced nearly two points amid considerable excitement THE BOND MARKETS.

Governments were dull. On the second call the 4s were quoted at 126% a 126%, and 4% at 107% a 108 for reg. and 108% a 109 for coupon. In State bonds Missouri 6s, of 1889, coupon. In State bonds Missouri & of 1889, sold at 105. There was only a fair inquiry for railway bonds. Texas Pacific incomes fell off 1, to 51, while the Rios advanced ½, to 68½, and dropped to 67½. West Shore & ranged from 100% to 100½. Union Pacific Sinking Funds 113½. Fort Worth 18ts 84 to 81½ and Houston & Texas 8ts 114½ to 114½. Kansas & Texas 6s fell off ½, to 81; Ind., Bloom. & Western Incomes 2, to 21; A. & P. incomes ½, to 28½, and Peo., Dec. & Evansville 2ds 1, to 73. Wabash generals advanced 1, to 57½; do. 7s new of 1879 ½, to 92½, and N. Y. Elevated 1sts ½, to 119½.

POREIGN MARKETS. The London market for American stocks and bonds was strong at the opening, railway securities rising 1/4 to 1/4 per cent. and U. S. 4s and 4/4s 3/s, per cent. each. At the close the improvement was partially lost. The Bank of England gained £220,000 on balance to-day. In Paris, rentes rose to 81f. 15c, from 80f. 60c, at the close yesterday.

The bulls had a regular picnic this after-noon. Union Pacific was taken in hand and put above 57 on enormous transactions. This intimidated the slarts in other stocks, intimidated the st. rts in other stocks, and in their anxiety to cover they put up prices right through the list. The bulls in Union Pacific gave out the oft-repeated story that the company is earning at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, and will shortly begin the payment of dividends.

Among the important announcements of the day was one from Pittsburg that the United States Court had granted orders removing the Reading, Jersey Central and Buffalo, N. Y. & Philadelphia roads from the hands of the receivers, the orders to take final effect on Jan. 2 next.

ANNIE RUTER'S ILL-TREATMENT.

She Tells Judge Barrett How She was Beaten by Her Brother.

A slightly built, blonds-haired girl sat on the end of one of the settees in the Supreme Court this morning. She was Annie M. Ruter, and she was there by virtue of the writ of habens corpus issued yesterday by Judge Barrett, requiring Deadrick T. Ruter to produce her in court at 10.30 A. M. The writ was granted on the petition of John Drucker, the girl's uncle, who told Judge Barrett a story of terrible cruelty practised on the child by her brother and guardian.

After several cases were disposed of, Lawyer Morris arose and told Judge Barrett how on Nov. 16 the girl came to his office and told him a pitiful story of ill-treatment, and begged him to take her from her brother.
Mr. Morris was followed by Douglas
A. Levien, who scathingly arraigned Deadrick Ruter, who was said to have squand-red the girl's sister's money and was anxious to send this girl's little fortune of $000 after it.
The brother's counsel, a gray-bearded map. The brother's counsel, a gray bearded man, with a shock of long, gray hair, denied the story, and asked Judge Barrett to take the girl's own story as to whether she was ill-treated or not. This brought out a reply that the girl was weak-minded and was completely under the influence of her brother. Judge Barrett listened gravely, and when both sides had finished he asked to see the both sides had finished he asked to see the girl.

"Go!" said her brother, a heavy-jawed young man with a low forchead.

Then the girl rose and followed Judge Barrett into a side room. They were gone some time, and when the Judge returned his manner boded no good to Deadrick T. Ruter.

"It appears," said the Judge, "that the child has been badly treated. I also find," he continued, with indignation in his voice, "that she has never been sent to school while under her brother's care. There is not any doubt but that she is under the influence of her brother. She must be placed with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children until this case has been fully investigated."

The girl remained quiet until the Judge had fluished. Then she sprang from her seat and cried out; "I won't go! I want to go home with my brother."
"You must, Those are my orders," was go home with my brother.

"You must, Those are my orders," was Judge Barrett's reply.

The girl sank back into her seat and smiled vacantly. When Lawyer Levine came down to speak to her, she repulsed him angrily, and walked away. Soon, however, she was pacified, and while waiting for the agent of pacified, and while waiting for the agent of the society, she spent her time twisting and untwisting a pair of black gloves.

Mrs. Drucker, the child's aunt, with her daughter, were in Court. They are most respectable appearing people, and the younger lady is a vivacious blonde. She was highly indignant at the manner in which Annie had been treated. She said that all that Deadrick T. Ruter centred was the girl's mosey. He draw $12 wanted was the girl's money. He drew $12 every month from the Surrogate office and spent it. He never worked, and it was quite true that Deadrick had squandered another sister's money.

The elder Ruter, the father of Deadrick, was a grocer. He died eight years ago and his death was followed two weeks later by his death was followed two weeks later by his wife's. He left quite a sum of money to be divided between five children. There are several rich uncles, but they have never done anything for the children. It is probable that the aunt will be appointed guardian.

LITTLEWOOD AHEAD OF THE RECORD. At Noon To-Day He Had Travelled Over

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.] PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—George Little wood, the Englishman brought over here on purpose to win the six-days' go-as-you-please contest bids fair to do all his backers expected of him, win the race and break the six days' record.

Whatever hopes the combination of pedesrians had of running the English champion out of the race yesterday were doomed to disappointment. Littlewood refused to be run out. No matter how fast the pace set for him he was there every time, and continued to lead and gain lap by lap. In the afternoon he had a slight attack of stomach trouble, but soon removed from it. He was heartily cheered by a large crowd as he ran around the course during the evening. When he went to bed for a few hours' sleep, soon after midnight, he had 245 miles to Albert, who was next to him, was forty-five miles behind. Littlewood came on the track again about daylight, seemingly fresh and

TESTIFYING FOR GORVEN.

Dr. Byrne's Medical Opinion Differs Min terfally From Dr. Hereld's.

The trial of Peter J. Gorven for the murder of Michael Smith last December was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning before Judge Gildersleeve, in Part III, of the Court of General Sessions. After testimony had been given showing that Gorven was a man of peaceable character, Dr. Joseph H. Byrne, formerly surgeon at St. Vincent's Hospital, testified that he had seen Michael Smith's wounds, and that in his opinion death would not have followed the stabbing had not Smith's blood been tainted with disease,

"Was not Smith's death superinduced by the wounds he received at the hands of Gorven?" asked a juror.
"My firm conviction is that it was not," said Dr. Byrne.

said Dr. Byrne.

Under cross-examination by Assistant District-Attorney Davis, Dr. Byrne said that he was present at the autopsy and saw nearly all of the operation. Some portions he did not see.

"Do you differ with Deputy Coroner Herold when he testifies, as he did yesterday,

amination,
"Yes."
"And when Mr. Davis heard what you would testify he sent you away, did he not?"
The question was overruled.
After several witnesses had given unim portint testimony Gorven was placed on the stand. He said that he had not had any trouble with Smith until the night of the murder. He was in Knabe's saloon, when he saw his friend Pendergrast's assistance, whereupon Smith turned upon him. He did the best that he could to defend himself.
On redirect examination Judge Curtis could to defend himself.

NEW POSTAL REGULATIONS.

The hue and cry among merchants and

To-day Postmaster Pearson issued a new circular, with the authority of the Postmaster-General, which, while it remedies some of the evils complained of, retains some of the imperfections and objectionable features of the original.

The new circular relieves the publishers of newspapers and other periodicals of a great deal of embarrassment, as well as of great expense, in that their mailing machines may now keep their subscription lists as for keep their subscription lists as for-now keep their subscription lists as formerly.

Concerning third-class matter, the objection still holds that a circular inclosed in an envelope which bears on its face a cut of any kind is subject to letter postage. For instance, should a circular be inclosed in an envelope bearing a reduced fac-simile of the title of The World it would come under the rule because of the cut of the Statue of Liberty between the words "The" and "World," Yet should the circular be removed and a rubber band be placed around both the circular and the addressed envelope they would be transmitted as third-class matter without objection.

loing a rushing business this morning. Stallkeepers regarded the big crowds that began to flow into the building at an early hour with the most evident satisfaction. All the stands presented the usual holiday appearance, and were plentifully stocked with all the dainties that the most ambitious housewife could wish for, ar ranged in the most attractive manner. Especially in the poultry department was this the case. Long lines of big, juicy-looking turkeys hung upon the racks. piles of chickens, ducks and geese hid the counters from sight, and barrels and hampers filled with all kinds of game which almost blocked the passageways, suggesting some of the possibilities of the savory feasts with which the National holiday will be celebrated to-morrow.

If one looked behind the counters he would have seen a lot of big brown paper-bags ranged in row along the hall and carefully labeled and addressed, which would have been mysterious but for the fact that from been mysterious but for the fact that from the top of every one a pair or two of black feet protruded, which unmistakably betrayed their contents. Some of the more sesthetic of the poultry dealers decorated the finer specimens of their stock hanging upon the racks with large red, white, yellow and blue rosettes made of tissue paper, which certainly increased the attractiveness and picturesqueness of their stands. There was also a big business done in game, the various clubs and hotels in town, as well as many out-of-town resorts having ordered large supplies for to-morrow's use. The markets will be open until late this evening, and will also open for a short time to-morrow morning.

As might be expected, the suddenly increased demand for turkcys made prices stiff this morning, and a bird of the best quality could not be obtained for less than 20 cents a pound, with a prospect of a further increase before evening, if the rush continues. The dealers say that the supply is not as large as usual and that fancy stock is very scarce.
Inferior birds could be bought for 12 and 14 cents this morning.

H. S. LITTLE CHARGES TREACHERY.

An Accusation Against the Chairman of th Democratic State Committee. ISPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]

NEWARK, Nov. 28. - Great excitement was created throughout New Jersey by the accusation made by H. S. Little against Allan L. McDermott, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, that Mr. McDermott had declared that he had done what he could to defeat Brown, the Democratic candidate for Senator in Monmouth County. G. B. M. Harvey telegraphed to-day to Mr. Little, asking him about the accusation. He received the following reply:

the following reply:

THENTON, Nov. 23. 1887.

Col. G. B. M. Horvey, Newark:

In answer to your inquiry as to a statement made by Alian L. McDermott, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, I send you a copy of the memorandum made immediately after the convention. This is the memorandum:

'Nov. 17, 1887.—In the ante-room of the Court of Errors and Appeals, then in session, Alian L. McDermott joined ex-Judges McCarter and Hoffman and myself seated in conversation. He stated that he had done as the could to defeat the election of Brown for Senator in Monmouth in the last election.

I asked ex-Judges McCarter and Hoffman to remember this statement. I said to Mr. McDermott that I had suspected it and was very glad to have him admit it. I then went to the library and wrote out the memorandum, of which the above is a true copy, and submitted it at once to Mr. McCarter, who said it was correct and ne would swear to it. Could not find Mr. Hoffman to submit to him. But you can rely upon it as strictly true.

Ex_Judge Ludlow McCarter was shown the
